2. . . (Subject) told us that VISOLANU was in Florence and was expected in Switzerland shortly. He expected to see VISOLANU and the King together at Ouchy sometime in early June. The principal reason for the Ouchy meeting was to discuss the dropping of General Nicolae RADESCU (MSRA-2033) as head of the Romanian Monarchists in exile in favor of VISOLANU. Subject says that the King was very displeased with RADESCU and that he was alarmed by RADESCU's desire for close cooperation with the French. Subject said that the great majority of the Monarchists' group did not favor cooperation with the French because of their suspicion that the French were highly penetrated by Communists. . . .

This is all the pertinent information on subject in this document.
